

100% REMOTE Litigation Attorney Needed for Fast-Growing Tenant Rights Law Firm

Are you an experienced, California-licensed litigation attorney looking for a meaningful work for deserving and grateful clients?

Are you interested in doing legal work that can deliver life-changing results to deserving clients?

Are you comfortable with technology and interacting with a team via the latest teleconferencing and videoconferencing technology?

Are you looking to join a team of smart, hardworking, and high-energy attorneys and legal professionals in one of the fastest growing law firms in the United States that has been certified as a Great Place to Work® for the past two years?

If you've answered yes to these questions, you may just be the person we're looking for.

We are a fast-growing San Francisco-based tenant rights law firm dedicated to changing lives—one tenant at a time. We pursue justice for California renters who have been harassed, discriminated against, or illegally evicted; and help tenants forced out of rent-controlled apartments get a fresh start. We are seeking a rock star Litigation Attorney who can hit the ground running.

The primary responsibilities of the Litigation Attorney are to oversee the prosecution of a portfolio of litigation matters; ensure progression of litigation matters through the pipeline; and act as a sounding board and mentor to other attorneys. This position will be responsible for critically important work, including:

- Acting as the responsible attorney for a portfolio of litigation matters, attending court hearings, defending clients at depositions, taking opposing parties' depositions, attending mediations, and (occasionally) first- or second-chairing trials;
- Overseeing and monitoring the job performance of a dedicated Paralegal and Case Manager;
- Reviewing the work product of the dedicated Paralegal;
- Ensuring, with the assistance of an electronic calendaring system, that all litigation deadlines are met;
- Handling all high-level litigation tasks, e.g., taking and defending depositions, attending mediations, preparing matters for trial, and, with the assistance of the firm's trial attorney, second-chairing the occasional trial;
- Ensuring, with the assistance of an electronic calendaring system, that all statutes of limitations are met;
- Assisting in the creation and/or revision of the firm's policies, systems, and procedures to ensure efficient operations; and
- Attending weekly meetings with Managing Attorney and team, and monthly team and individual coaching meetings.

If the following statements describe you, then you may be our Litigation Attorney:

- Your litigation style is aggressive, but practical. When interacting with opposing counsel, you believe in the Golden Rule.

- You have thick skin—an ability to roll with the punches and not take criticism from clients, adjusters, or opposing counsel personally.
- You believe in the firm’s commitment to work-life balance but are nonetheless prepared to arrive early, stay late, and work on weekends when necessary to get the job done.
- You have an empathetic and understanding manner with clients.
- You have great attention to detail. You proofread documents and emails; can spot and fix grammar errors, spelling errors, typos, formatting errors, etc.; you do not let important details slip through the cracks or derail a project.
- You expect personal performance and team performance to be nothing short of the best.
- You are trustworthy, do not cut corners ethically, earn trust and maintain confidences when appropriate, and, most importantly, do what is right, not just what is expedient.
- You are innovative, growth-minded, can generate new and creative approaches to problems, and can maximize value and use of technology and other resources.
- You can act without being told what to do and bring new ideas to the Managing Attorney.
- You work at a fast pace with the ability to move between tasks quickly, are not overwhelmed with volume or by deadlines, and spend time on tasks that add value.
- You develop and nurture productive and professional relationships with clients and staff and are both approachable yet stern when the circumstances require.
- You are self-directed, able to assess a situation and determine what needs to be done and then do it.
- Your middle name is “No Drama.”
- You are an awesome juggler of tasks and can change gears quickly.
- You do not think of any task as “beneath you.”

While we do not have a minimum years-in-practice requirement, we need a Litigation Attorney with experience taking and defending depositions, (preferably) attending mediations, and negotiating settlements. The Litigation Attorney must be an active member of the State Bar of California with a discipline-free record. He or she must be able to manage a portfolio of litigation matters, lead a team, take initiative on work that needs to be done, prosecute claims aggressively and efficiently, and complete tasks with minimal handholding. The ideal candidate will have a positive attitude and sense of humor, and be willing to follow policies, systems, and procedures.

This is a fulltime job, and you absolutely must be able to work for at least forty hours per week. Work will be done 100% virtually. Salary depends on experience. Total compensation includes bonuses tied to the achievement of objective quarterly milestones (in full compliance with California law and the California Rules of Professional Conduct); open (unlimited) PTO; full health, dental, and vision benefits after ninety days of fulltime employment; paid holidays (ten days per year) and sick leave in accordance with state law; payment of California State Bar annual fees and any needed CLE courses to ensure compliance; and a retirement plan with a mandatory employer contribution beginning in January 2023.
